

A COMMUNITY CONVERSATION

Women are at the heart of our communities. By holding a community conversation with family and friends or within your wider community you can help prevent tragedies and protect young people from the threat of radicalisation.

A COMMUNITY CONVERSATION

Women are at the heart of our communities. By holding a community conversation with family and friends or within your wider community you can help prevent tragedies and protect young people from the threat of radicalisation.

A COMMUNITY CONVERSATION

Women are at the heart of our communities. By holding a community conversation with family and friends or within your wider community you can help prevent tragedies and protect young people from the threat of radicalisation.

A COMMUNITY CONVERSATION

Women are at the heart of our communities. By holding a community conversation with family and friends or within your wider community you can help prevent tragedies and protect young people from the threat of radicalisation.

Anyone can hold a community conversation by following these simple steps shown on the Prevent Tragedies website www.preventtragedies.co.uk

You can hold a community conversation at home, or you can contact your local community group/organisation (see details below) if you would like to take part in one.

Name: _____

Organisation: _____

Contact Details: _____

Further help and advice

If you are concerned that someone you know is thinking about travelling to a conflict zone and/or is vulnerable to radicalisation contact your local police on 101. They will talk to you in confidence about your concerns.

www.preventtragedies.co.uk

Support and advice for families concerned about radicalisation.

Anyone can hold a community conversation by following these simple steps shown on the Prevent Tragedies website www.preventtragedies.co.uk

You can hold a community conversation at home, or you can contact your local community group/organisation (see details below) if you would like to take part in one.

Name: _____

Organisation: _____

Contact Details: _____

Further help and advice

If you are concerned that someone you know is thinking about travelling to a conflict zone and/or is vulnerable to radicalisation contact your local police on 101. They will talk to you in confidence about your concerns.

www.preventtragedies.co.uk

Support and advice for families concerned about radicalisation.

Anyone can hold a community conversation by following these simple steps shown on the Prevent Tragedies website www.preventtragedies.co.uk

You can hold a community conversation at home, or you can contact your local community group/organisation (see details below) if you would like to take part in one.

Name: _____

Organisation: _____

Contact Details: _____

Further help and advice

If you are concerned that someone you know is thinking about travelling to a conflict zone and/or is vulnerable to radicalisation contact your local police on 101. They will talk to you in confidence about your concerns.

www.preventtragedies.co.uk

Support and advice for families concerned about radicalisation.

Anyone can hold a community conversation by following these simple steps shown on the Prevent Tragedies website www.preventtragedies.co.uk

You can hold a community conversation at home, or you can contact your local community group/organisation (see details below) if you would like to take part in one.

Name: _____

Organisation: _____

Contact Details: _____

Further help and advice

If you are concerned that someone you know is thinking about travelling to a conflict zone and/or is vulnerable to radicalisation contact your local police on 101. They will talk to you in confidence about your concerns.

www.preventtragedies.co.uk

Support and advice for families concerned about radicalisation.